What Will Your Legacy Be?

Creating or updating your will is one of the most meaningful ways to care for the people and causes that matter most to you.

Giving Back from the Beginning

Julie Ix Genovese '95 learned early on the importance of supporting the people and places that shape you.

It's a simple lesson from her parents that has guided her approach to philanthropy ever since.

Just several years after college graduation, Julie and her husband David included St. Lawrence in their estate plans to help future Laurentians enjoy the same life-changing experience she did.

"I hope other people will think about including St. Lawrence in their will. It's an easy way to give, and it helps you stay connected to a place that meant so much."

—Julie Ix Genovese '95, with husband David

Why consider a legacy gift?

A gift through your will costs nothing today, yet it can have a lasting impact on future generations of Laurentians. Whether you're creating your first will or updating an existing estate plan, now is a good time to reflect on the people and organizations that have shaped your life.
